

English

In English this term we will be reading our new book, The Roman Tales by Terry Deary.

We will begin our writing focusing on diary entries of our own personal experiences and using experiences from our texts.

We will then be writing letters to inform, based on our topic of Romans. We will be thinking carefully about how a letter is structured and how to use a formal tone.

At the end of this term, we will be contrasting this by writing informal letters about Roman experiences.
